THIRTEENTH YEAR.

EARLINGTON, HOPKINS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1902.

NO. 12

EXPENSIVE UNDERTAKING

The So-Called Hopkins County Strike Has Cost the Agitators A Large Sum of Money.

SOME VERY FAT PICKINGS.

The Officers of the Organization and Their Lawyers Have Had a Regular Harvest.

The so-called strike that has been in Hopkins county for the past 16 months has been rather a costly thing for all parties concerned. At present we are not able to state what it has cost the coal companies of the county to defend themselves against the men who have been trying by persuasion, by threats and force to organize the mines of the district. The companies interested have made no public statement of the expense incurred by them in trying to protect their property from destruction by others.

The Secretary-Treasurer of district No. 23, United Mine Workers, makes his report of money expended from Oct. 1st, 1900, to Dec. 1st, 1901, a period of fourteen months.

The amount of money spent on the so-called "Hopkins county strike" was $165,462.52. Of this $7,360.50, was for legal services.

The officers and organizers got $28,295.65 in salaries and expenses.

The "strikers" (?) and "incidental expenses" got $129,508.72.

From the foregoing report, it seems that there has been some pretty fat pickings for a number of people. During that time, the lawyers have managed to gobble up $7,360.50 for their services. This is quite a nice little sum that these men have been able to put into their pockets and the pickings have just fairly commenced.

But the officers and organizers have come in for a still larger share. There are not a great many officers, that is as we understand it, but what few there are, with the organizers have managed to make a pretty good thing out of it. The sum of $28,295.65 for salaries of officers and for those engaged in organizing looks to a common newspaper man to be a monstrous sum, especially when we take into consideration the fact that so little has been accomplished by these men.

Of the sum of $165,462.52 spent in the work, the lawyers, the officers and organizers got $35,056.45, or nearly one-fourth the amount sent here for the purpose of organizing men against their wish, for the purpose of keeping up a disturbance in the county. This leaves the sum of $129,808.45 that has been distributed to the men who have joined the organization and for the purpose of paying other "incidental" expenses, whatever these "incidentals" may be.

This money is raised by a tax that is levied on the miners in counties where the miners are unionized. Every miner is compelled, whether he likes it or not, to contribute to the maintenance of the so-called strike in Hopkins county. He has no choice in the matter, but when pay day arrives, his assessment is kept out and handed over to the fund to be used by the agitators. It may be that the man assessed is poor, his family in need, his pay but little, yet that does not keep him from having to contribute his mite to help maintain the lawyers, the officers, the organizers and the other "incidentals."

And what good has been accomplished by all this expenditure of money? The mines of Hopkins county are no nearer being organized now than they were 16 months ago. There is not a mine that is not running with a full force of men and orders coming in for coal faster than the order can be filled. Not more than 10 percent of the men who were at work in the mines at the time of the advent of the Mine Workers ever joined the organization, while the places of those who quit work have been filled without the least trouble to the operators. It is a fact that for every man who has thrown up his job, two men have been ready to fill his vacancy. There is not now a mine in the county but has every man it needs for the successful management of its business.—(Glenn's Graphic).

FESTIVE TRIP ON #### RECORD ON L. & N.

L. & N. Runs a Special From St. Louis to St. Augustine, Fla.

At 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon President Culver, of the Wrought Iron Range Company, of St. Louis, asked for a special train to St. Augustine, Fla., where his daughter was thought to be dying of scarlet fever, and at 5:30 p. m. the train was waiting under the shed at the Union station, St. Louis. The special left Union depot at 7:20 p. m. and arrived at Nashville at 2:20 a. m., a distance of 816 miles, making the trip in seven hours at a rate of speed, including all stops, of nearly 50 miles per hour.

President Culver spoke in highest terms of the splendid service given him by the L. & N. and was well pleased with the speed attained. Conductor Geo. Madox and Engineer Cover, with engine 121, were in charge of the special on the Henderson division.

This Cap Designed for Those It Fits.

One of our merchants met a well-to-do farmer on the street the other day and asked the son of toil for his patronage. The farmer was surprised and said: "I have been taking your town paper ever since it started and never knew you were in business. I look at the advertisements over every week and your name is not there, and whenever your name is mentioned it doesn't state that you are in business."

The merchant said he didn't believe in newspaper advertising, but did all his advertising on rocks, fences, bridges, etc., and you have certainly driven along these fences, rocks and over bridges. "Yes," replied the farmer, "and remember they were daubed up with paint, but for the life of me don't remember that I ever read a one of them. There are so many other things to look at and I don't believe in destroying nature in that manner. If you will send those rocks, rails and bridges to my house I will look them over some evening after I have finished reading the paper and see what you have for sale."—Ex-

DOWN IN THE MINES.

Secretary-Treasurer Campbell, of District 23 United Mine Workers, tells where he got the money that was spent in Hopkins county during the fourteen months ending Dec. 1st, 1901.

The total amount assessed by the union miners of District 23 is $28,838.88.

From Indiana miners... $26,000.00

From Illinois and Alabama... 2,631.50

From the National Board 106,320.00

A total of... $166,320.38

As before reported in The Bee, $105,402.52-10 of this amount was spent by the Secretary-Treasurer and other mine officials and organ-ers to know say he is an excellent man for the place, and with the great success is assured him.

Several of the Hecla miners were called to Madison last week as witnesses in a case wherein one of their number, after partaking too freely of firewater, proceeded to make things unpleasant for his neighbors.

Foreman Carroll, formerly of the Barnesley and Hecla mines, has been placed in charge at the Victoria mine. His reputation as a bank foreman is a good one, and the Victoria managers are to be congratulated upon securing the services of so valuable a man.

Foreman James Fagan seems to have developed into a general overseer of all the mines in the vicinity of the railroads? How much was spent in the saloons and sporting houses of Madisonville, Henderson, Evansville, Owensboro, Louisville, Central City and other places? How much was spent in the stores, farms, bank, stock and loans by the officials and organizers? How much was lost in gambling houses? How much was spent in liberal payments by checks and otherwise to thirsty miners in the saloons and sporting houses? How much was spent in buying guns and pistols and the "sobes" and how many of those guns and pistols were sold to buy food and shoes by the hungry victims to whom they were issued? How much was stolen by dishonest commissioners? And most important of all, just how much of this great sum of money was spent in buying food and clothing for the women and children of the men who quit work and have depended on brother U. M. W. for support?

Let us tell why the usual rail road route for officials and organizers between Central City and Madisonville was via Owensboro and Henderson, a distance of 108 miles and a cost of $4.00, instead of via Nortonville, a distance of 39 miles and a cost of $1.00.

A commercial traveler who added to his railroad expense in that way would be discharged at once, but officials and organizers of the U. M. W. don't care for money—it comes too easy.

Campbell, Mitchell, Wood & Co. spent $16,400.00-10 in four months in efforts to close up the mines at Hopkins, Christopher and Webster counties, with the result as will be shown by the report of the Inspector of Mines of a greater output of coal than ever before; January, February and March of 1902, showing an increased output over the corresponding months of 1901, when the greatest output in the history of those counties was made.

MANAGER ENGLISH, OF PADUCAH,

In a Letter to Manager McGary,

Says: "We played Carpenter's 'Qo' hero Monday, March 10, to a $10,000 house and early in the season we had Whitney & Knowles' 'Qo' hero, and we are doing well."

"There is no comparison between the two. Carpenter's production is the best I have ever seen and our parous were more than pleased. To say they have an excellent cast and a beautiful production is putting it mildly, and you can assure your people they never saw a better show than this one and it will please each and every one of them. You will find that all in this company are ladies and gentlemen and thorough aristocrats, and the manager, Mr. Fitzgerald, is one of the neatest men I have ever met."

DAMAGING FALSE-HOOD REFUTED.

Shot a Dog

NEAR THE RESIDENCE OF MR. WALTON.

Stories are being circulated over the county for the evident purpose of injuring Mr. J. B. Lindle, a deputy marshal of Earlinton, who, with another officer, was compelled to kill a dog near the residence of Wm. Walton, on the 11th of March.

Sad Walton complained to me that men who said they were officers fired three (3) shots into his house in the time the dog was killed. Investigation proved this to be false in every particular. As Mr. Lindle still has to be tried for the Boxtown shooting, such stories are most injurious. Respectfully,

WILLIAM F. BURR,
Mayor of Earlinton.

ALARMING THE YOUNG MAN.

One Way of Keeping Possible Suitors at Distan<sup>c</sup>e.

It was the second time that the story of the had accompanied the young lady home. She asked him if he wouldn't come in. He said he would.

Sarah took his hat, told him to sit down, and left the room.

She was hardly gone before her mother came in, smiled sweetly, and, dropping down beside the young man, said:

"I always did say that if a poor but respectable young man fell in love with our Sarah, he should have my consent."

The young man started with alarm.

"She has acknowledged to me that she loves you," continued the mother, "and whatever is for her happiness is for mine."

"I—I haven't," stammered the young man.

"Oh, never mind; make no apology. I know you haven't much money, but, of course, you'll live in my house."

"I had no idea of—" began Sarah's mamma, reassuringly. "With your wages and what the boarders will bring in we shall get along as comfortably as possible."

The young man's eyes stood out like hot pugs, and he rose up and tried to say something.

"Never mind about thanks," she cried: "I don't believe in long courtships. The 20th of May is my birthday, and it would be nice for you to be married on that day."

"But—but—but," he gasped.

"There, there! I don't expect any reply," she laughed. "I'll try and be a model mother-in-law. I believe I'm good-tempered and kind-hearted, though I did once follow a young man a couple of hundred miles with a broomstick for agreeing to marry my daughter and then bucking out of the engagement."

She patted him on the head and sailed out.

And now the young man wants advice. He wants to know whether he had better get in the way of a locomotive or jump off the nearest bridge.—London Tid-Bits.

A Gentle Bluff.

"I small east mamma if you attempt to kiss me," she said softly. He heeded and grew pale.

"Mamma is out attending the sewing society," the young lady hastened to explain. Then she cast her eyes downcast and waited.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

Indictment Returned Against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. Louisville.

THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY FOUND IT.

The Alleged Offense Consists in the Charging of Less for Transportation of Corn in Carried Lots Than the Interstate Commerce Law Prescribes.

Louisville, Ky., March 10.—An indictment returned against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. by the federal grand jury has been made public. It charges a violation of the interstate commerce law, the offense consisting in the road charging less for the transportation of corn in carload lots than the interstate commerce law.

There are two counts in the bill which set forth that, on November 14, 1901, the Louisville & Nashville and the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroads, operating as common carriers through the states of Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama, and into Georgia, made a rate to S. W. Smith, a citizen of Louisville, for the transport of corn from Louisville to Atlanta, shipped by him from Louisville by the railroads named. This rate made the total freight charge on this lot $94.40, when it should have been $113.00.

The difference or rebate amounted to three cents, being 21 cents, when it should have been 24 cents.

The other counts set forth that the same date, on another lot of 84,000 bushels of corn, by S. W. Smith, to Atlanta, a flat-top freight charge of $117.60 was made, when it should have been $124.40, this also being a three-cent rebate.

The railroads named in the indictment are H. F. Smith, A. S. Dodge, M. P. Washburne, of the Southeastern & Mississippi Valley Tariff Association; Fred W. Hudson, traffic manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis; George A. Bushfield and John L. Greene.

A WISCONSIN PIONEER

Recommends Pe-ru-na as Being Worth its Weight in Gold.

John Paulin, Sr., a pioneer of Port Washington, Wis., is held in high esteem by the residents of that place. He is one of the oldest citizens. In a recent letter he says:

"I have used Peru-na with good results for coughs and colds. It has also cured my cataract which always became worse when affected with but a slight cold. I am recommending Peru-na because it is worth its weight in gold."

—JOHN PAULIN, SR.

Mr. A. Howell, Marlette, G. S., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh in head, throat and lungs for several months. I have consulted several physicians and have been unable to find relief. I have read in several newspapers of the good effects that many have received from Peru-na, and whose veracity could not be doubted, caused me to give it a trial, and I bless the day that I did take a trial. It has made me well."

"I was all my life up to about five years ago a very healthy man, and about that time I was troubled with catarrh."

"I tried a number of prescriptions from different physicians, but none of them relieved me. I then commenced to use Peru-na, and from the time I began to use it I have been healthy and well."

"I am now in my eighty-seventh year, and am as well as many much younger. I self and attribute it greatly to the use of Peru-na. I keep on hand all the time, and consider it the cheapest medicine in the world."

J. R. Prince, East Leon, N. Y., writes:

"Peru-na has saved my life, and made a strong, healthy, jolly old man of me."

"Peru-na is just what every family should have on hand, as it has taken very few colds since I have used Peru-na."

"It is now my eighty-second year, and I have never been ill since I began to use Peru-na."

THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1902.

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth, and after a reasonable length of time had elapsed he created the editor and the liberal advertiser and the prompt paying subscriber, all of which work was exceedingly good.

The next day it snowed and he moulded a man who does not believe in advertising and one who does not take his county paper—then he rested from his work, and the devil sneaked into the moulding room and made the man who takes the paper for years and then refuses to pay for it although he well knows the editor of this same paper is subsisting on sassafras root tea and corn bread and his numerous offspring have not enough wearing apparel to make a necktie for a June bug. After he had completed this lamentable job there were a few lumps left and he fashioned that something in the form of a man who settles the quarrels among the overworked editor by instructing the postmaster to mark his paper "refused."

Why was Pompeii abandoned? At a period when newspaper desiccates were rather rapid, despite the accredited appearance of the sea serpent and the arrival of the large potato Max Nodan in an Austrian journal propounded a problem that should lead to useful inquiry:

Of the 30,000 inhabitants a few hundreds at most seem to have lost their lives. The eruption of Vesuvius lasted only a few days. The deposit of lava and ashes was not very thick.

The houses might have been easily repaired.

Many of them stand to this day. They were beautiful houses, many of them, richly appointed and containing valuable of great price. Had the Pompeians no love of home, or were they too superstitious, or did their terror at the eruption make them believe the disaster might come again?

Origin of a Joke.

Dr. Flinders Petrie, the eminent archaeologist, announces that he has deciphered the cuneiform inscription on a tablet he excavated in the plains of Assyria, and believes that it is a copy of a prehistoric comic paper. Among other items, it contained the following merry jest, which bears a strangely familiar sound:

"Now, there were gathered together at the place of the telling of stories, many of them that have lived long in the land, and one of them lifted up his voice, and said:

"Behold, it groweth cold with extremities."

Whereupon another made answer, saying:

"Verily, it doth. But let us separate and get hence, for here cometh Methusalem, the aged, and if wearry we will even tell us again of the cold spell of the year 40."

"And they got hence with much speed."—Baltimore American.

An Old Fashioned Wedding.

Last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the residence of D. B. Griffin, occurred an old fashioned wedding the like of which has not been seen in this country for several years.

The contracting parties were Walter Cox and Miss Mollie Griffin, Rev. John J. Burden performing the ceremony.

After the wedding the young couple were given a supper by the bride's father and the tables were loaded down with good things to eat and drink. There were forty-eight people to partake of this repast and a happier, jollier crowd never gathered together.

The groom is an employee of the St. Bernard Mining Company and the bride is a daughter of D. B. Griffin, one of Earlington's well known citizens. The Bee extends hearty congratulations and wishes them success in life.

Good Advice.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dryness and Liver Complaint. More than 75 per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these as Sour stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of Heart, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Gas and Bloating. Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable taste in the Mouth. Coming up of风 after Eating, Loss of Spirit etc. Go to your Druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. ## Death and Taxes.

Some interesting horse owner has a horse named Death and he is winning every race in sight. The next thing in order will be for some one to introduce an animal with the significant name of Taxes and match it against Death, then there will be race war seeing.

A Winter Grizzly Surprise.

"I never was so much surprised in my life as I was with the results of using Chamberlin's Palm Balm," says Henry T. Crook, pressman of the Ashland (Ky.) Gazette. "I treated a severe case of rheumatism early last winter by getting my feet wet. I tried several things for it without benefit. One day while looking over the Gazette I noticed that Pain Balm was positively guaranteed to cure rheumatism, so I bought a bottle of it and was reading two-thirds of it when my rheumatism had taken its flight and I have not had a rheumatic attack since." Sold by St. Bernard Druggists, Earlinton; B. F. Robinson, Mortons, Ga.; Geo. King, St. Charles.

"Well, Whirly, did you find that the divine young creature returned your love?" "Yes, just as soon as I offered it to her."—London Tit-Bits.

Repairing Neatly Done.

Never thought of such sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign. Scott's Emulsion. The best has to be repaired like oil things and Scott's Emulsion the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is wrapped in every box. Send for free sample.

THE BEE, EARLINGTON, KY.

MAPLESUGARSCARCE

WHY THE PRICE OF THE GENUINE ARTICLE IS HIGH.

NOT SO LONG AGO AS IN FORMER YEARS LAST YEAR'S SUPPLY ALREADY EXHAUSTED—INVITATION FLAVORED WITH HICKORY CHIPS.

This is the season when the maple sugar maker gathers up his pots and pails and, armed with sugar and spigots, invades the sugar bush to gather the spring harvest of delicious syrup and sugar. For this year the crop of this favorite sweet has been wanting, and whereas in the years gone by the production amounted to 25,000 tons, 5,000 is now the average. This, of course, means a considerable increase in cost to the consumer.

Makers and dealers declare that the price of maple sugar is higher than ever, and, in part, due to the fact that there is little or none of last year's crop in stock and that this year's sugar making season will be unusually short owing to the recent severe cold weather.

Vermont is the greatest producer. Considerable quantities are also made in northern New York. It is said that in the state of New York there is more maple sugar produced than in any other state along the northern border of the country. The quantity produced is less, but the quality is insignificant when compared with the aggregate output of the states mentioned.

Maple sugar is made from the sap of the sugar, or hard maple tree. It is known by various names, but in northern New England it is called rock maple.

The sap of the maple is obtained by boring in the trunk a hole about five-eighths of an inch in diameter and two and a half inches deep two or three feet from the ground. At the beginning of the season the trees are tapped on the south or east sides because the sun is more direct on these sides.

The Madisonville W. C. T. U. extends a special invitation to the officers and members of the new unions at Slaughtererville, Haason, Nebo, Providence and Earlington to attend the meeting in Madisonville, next Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. They hope that all the officers at least, of these unions, and as many members beside who can do so, will make an effort to be present.

On Easter Sunday, March 30, an Easter service will be held in the new Methodist church in the morning.

In the afternoon and evening Miss Eva Marshall Shontz, National President of the Young People's Christian Temperance Union, will speak.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: "With the possible exception of Mrs. Ballington Booth, no woman who has visited Cincinnati in years is equal to Eva Marshall Shontz, in all the attributes that go to move the minds and hearts of men and women. While not lacking in humor, her forte is in presenting the tragic side of life, and upon this board she is master of every stop and key. Agah and again her passionate pleading moved strong men to tears."

Dr. Henry Wade Rogers, Law Department, Yale University, says: "It is upon her that the mantle of Frances Willard seems to have fallen."

A Bit of History.

In 1882, the first law in any state requiring the teaching of the physiological effects of alcohol upon the human system, was enacted in Vermont. This first statute was a very weak one, as it only specified that the effects of alcohol upon the body should be among the subjects required to be taught; but it was a start in the right direction.

The next state was Michigan, which in 1883 passed a law requiring the effects of alcohol to be taught "to all pupils in all schools." In 1884, Rhode Island and New York enacted statutes similar to that of Michigan.

In 1885, the legislature of Pennsylvania passed a law declaring that the effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics should be included "in each division of the subject of physiology and hygiene." A further stipulation was made that this subject should "be studied as a regular branch." To this state belongs the honor of affixing the first penalty for a non-compliance with its provisions.

During this same year, 1885, "scientific temperance instruction" laws were passed in Maine, Alabama, Wisconsin, Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon, Missouri and Nevada.

In 1886, the national law was passed by Congress requiring that the study be pursued "with text-books in the hands of pupils," and including the other strong provisions of the Pennsylvania law. This, the first temperance law ever enacted by Congress, cost Mrs. Hunt, the originator of such a law, ten months of tireless labor at the national Capitol, in which the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the whole country participated.

The same year, 1886, Connecticut, Maryland and Iowa passed similar laws. In 1887, West Virginia, Colorado, and Minnesota passed strong laws. Delaware a weak one, and California one containing the penalty and "all-pupil" clauses.

In 1888, Louisiana passed the first strong law of the South; Ohio, a law with the penalty clause, and Florida, Illinois and Montana following in 1889.

In 1890, the two Dakotas on becoming states, retained on becoming states, retained on their statute books the main points of the national law. Washington, Wyoming and Idaho on becoming states, enacted similar laws.

In 1891, North Carolina passed a law containing all the strong clauses. In 1892, Mississippi followed, but with a weaker statute.

In 1893, the Connecticut law was amended to contain the strong specifications and Texas and Kentucky passed weak laws.

In 1894, New Jersey passed a strong law. In 1895, South Carolina, Tennessee and Indiana entered the circle. In 1896, the New York law was strongly amended and in 1897, the law in Illinois.

In 1898 Utah, in 1899 Arkansas, in 1900 Virginia, and late in 1901 Georgia, completed the list, leaving no state or territory in the United States without some form of temperance legislation.

When we reflect that these scientific temperance instruction laws affect to a greater or less extent, the destiny of every child born in this country, for generations to come, we are overwhelmed at the magnitude of their influence for good. Then, when we realize that if the earnest, cultured woman, in whose brain such a law was first conceived, lived in Kentucky, she would now be disfranchised, deprived of the right to name her choice in the selection of officers to enforce the law, we confess a feeling of deep humiliation.

Kentucky has taken long step backward in the last legislature, by withdrawing from women the moral of suffrage which they possessed. Because some colored women in a single town engaged in a brawl on one election day, the voice of such women as Mrs. Frances E. Beuchamp, Miss Laura Clay, Mrs. Mary W. Bender and hundreds of other noble, consecrated women devoting their lives to the highest interests of the children in the public schools of the state, must be silenced. On how many election days have been engaged in brawls? Not only colored men, but white men, Tell it not in Gath. What a spasm of virtue must have attacked the wiscraces who voted for the repeal of this law. If they would only be consistent and disfranchise all individuals who engage in brawls on election day, they would really be rendering the state some service for the salaries they receive, but in the act they have committed, they have done the children in the public schools incalculable injury. We certainly could not hope for the passage of an anti-cigarette law by the legislature taking this backward step.

If, however, any of these foolish is deluding himself with the idea that these two questions are settled, he is a wonderfully mistaken man. Mrs. Hoffman, in one of her masterly addresses at Madisonville said, "No question is ever settled until it is settled right."

As surely as the sun rises in the East, the time is coming when in Kentucky less thought will be given to whisky and horses and more to the moral and physical welfare of the children of the state; when women will not only have a voice in the selection of our law-makers, but will occupy seats in the House of Assembly and in the Senate Chamber.

"Gentlemen may cry, 'Peace, peace,' but there will be no peace, until the time comes when the manufacturers of and dealers in cigarettes will take down their signs and close their shutters.

Renovating Church of the Immaculate Conception.

The work is all in water colors. The ceiling is divided into eight large panels, which in turn are divided into one large and two small panels.

In the top panels are garlands of flowers, and wreaths of gold tied with yellow ribbons. In the lower panels are Gothic symbols, with some pretty floral ornaments. In the center is a Gothic border, then a moulding, a small border, a Gothic cross with a centerpiece of pure gold leaf. The wood work is finished in zinc.

Four large angel figures, red, green, dark and light, have a golden harmony by contrast. Four are in shades of red and orange, harmony in analogy. Each centerpiece is different, consisting of hearts, crosses, crowns, anchor, crown of thorns, monograms and others.

On account of the scaffolding, we could not see the sanctuary, which is different from the church, being richer and the ornaments in free hand relief.

WHICH PATH WOULD YOU TAKE?

Reply to Timmie's "Which Path Would You Take?" in Earlington Bee of February.

If we could go o'er life's journey again,

We would not follow the path of woe;

We'd not burden our souls with heartache pain;

Knowing what we do? No. Timmie,

You ask Timmie, which path we'd take?

We'd take the path that's noble and good;

We'd not make life's journey a mistake.

We could follow the right path if we would.

If we'd follow the path that is fair;

And no mope about in the gloom,

We'd not have disappointments and care.

In this life or beyond the tomb,

If we had chosen our lot.

What was sweet to be,

And indeed we find it not.

What we had hoped to see.

We'd not blame others for woes hard to bear,

And talk of days of troubles spent,

If our minds are at peace, all is fair."

If our souls and hearts are innocent.
